

In an electric motor according to the invention, preferably an internal rotor motor, having a housing which is enclosed on all sides, with the specific exception of a bushing for a drive shaft,...

Flash burns associated with electricity occur because: air is highly resistant to the passage of electricity, generating intense heat. The seriousness of burns in the pediatric population is put ...

Study with Quizlet and memorize flashcards containing terms like Flash burns associated with electricity occur because: 1) air is mildly resistant to the passage of electricity, generating only ...

