

For boat building and repairs, epoxy's superior strength makes it ideal for filling larger structural gaps. But filling gaps and voids with epoxy requires thickening the epoxy to a peanut butter co...

Sealants and adhesives provide flexible solutions for sealing gaps. I recommend using silicone sealant for its water-resistant properties. It's ideal for sealing gaps around pipes or joints. For ...

pipe clamp connection between the tower and the fill hose. The steel structure has an optional swivel that allows the fill arm to swing away from the fill location when not in use. The air gap ...

It also helps deter insects and critters from entering your home. So, there is every reason to use a sealant to fill these areas. But what about large gaps? This article will show you how to seal ...

