

How do you store pearl jewelry?

There are a couple of important rules when it comes to storing pearl jewelry. Though it's generally acceptable to hang most necklaces or bracelets from a hook organizer, it's best to lay your pearls flat to avoid the strands from stretching out. Also, be wary of storing your pearls too close to other, harder types of jewelry.

How should I protect my pearl jewelry?

To protect your pearl jewelry, store it in separate and preferably individual jewelry box compartments. Do not use plastic jewelry bags to store individual pieces as they emit a chemical that will deteriorate the surface of the pearls. Instead, use silk or suede jewelry pouches. Have your pearls professionally cleaned.

Do pearls need moisture?
