

How does energy affect Lebanon's economy?

Energy and electricity demand have weighed heavily on Lebanon's economy. Imported fuel oil accounts for nearly a quarter of the national budget deficit, while electricity demand outpaces power generation capacity. Renewable energy technologies, in contrast, offer the prospect of clean, fully domestically sourced power and heat systems.

What type of energy is used in Lebanon?

Renewable energy here is the sum of hydropower, wind, solar, geothermal, modern biomass and wave and tidal energy. Traditional biomass - the burning of charcoal, crop waste, and other organic matter - is not included. This can be an important energy source in lower-income settings. Lebanon: How much of the country's energy comes from nuclear power?

Can Lebanon get 30% of its electricity from renewables?

Lebanon could realistically and cost-effectively obtain 30% of its electricity supply from renewables by 2030, the study finds. But doing so requires considerable acceleration, effectively doubling the share expected from existing plans and policies. The LCEC action plan for solar and wind development represents a notable step in this direction.
