

What is a tiger PV module?

This new technology used in the Tiger module will offer efficiency gains of more than 10%. The new module is defined as a high energy density module. The global PV industry is moving faster than ever towards grid parity, and some South American markets, such as Mexico, have already achieved this.

How much power does a tiger Pro module use?

Especially for large photovoltaic projects, the capacity ratio of the whole project can also be improved. The Voc under standard conditions for the new Tiger Pro module is 49.5V (double-sided). 530W@STC=25°C, G=1000W/m², AM=1.5).

What tiling Ribbon technology does the Tiger module use?

The Tiger module adopts a TR tiling ribbon solution, which is in fact a combination of the tiling ribbon, multi-wire 9BB and half-cut solution. Half-cut and multi-wire technology are relatively mature. This new technology used in the Tiger module will offer efficiency gains of more than 10%.

What is the maximum MPPT of a string inverter?

At present, the maximum input current of MPPT of mainstream string inverters is 26A, while when the back gain is more than 30%, and the solar irradiance is very good (>1000W/m²), the output current of the modules may be more than 13A. If one MPPT of the inverter connects two groups of strings, the output of the modules will be lost.

The Tiger Pro series offers an industry best 15-year product warranty and 25-year linear warranty, with degradation of 2% in the first year and maximum annual degradation of 0.55% from the second ...
