

Abstract Train-induced airflows (TIA) have a considerable effect on the thermal environment and cooling of underground metro stations (UMSs). However, there are limited studies specifically ...

Request PDF | On Mar 1, 2025, Yanzhe Yu and others published An empirical study estimating train-induced airflow rate and its effect on the cooling load of underground stations | Find, read ...

This weather station allows you to directly connect to 2.4 GHz Wi-Fi to conveniently upload your weather information directly and share all your information on Weather Underground with ...

Train-induced airflows (TIA) have a considerable effect on the thermal environment and the cooling of underground metro stations (UMSs). However, few studies have specifically ...

